

WEATHER FORECAST
Arkansas: Considerable cloudiness and continued warm, a few scattered showers Saturday and in west and north portions this afternoon and tonight.

Voice of Opinion

By James Thrasher

A Beef by Mr. La Guardia

Lifting of price controls on meat will lead to the complete breakdown of democratic government and a throw-back of all social progress of the last quarter of a century," said Fiorello H. La Guardia in a recent speech.

Perhaps the former New York Mayor was making a political speech, but with Mr. La Guardia it is hard to tell. He was closest to Congress as a Republican and later as a socialist. He was an ardent New Dealer throughout the Roosevelt administration. What he is at the moment is a Republican and a socialist. But it is clear that this oratorical occasion found him in an anti-Truman mood.

"The President is dangerous," said Mr. La Guardia when he explained the dire prediction quoted above by saying, "We now have free enterprise at its worst.... From now on any group that is setting all its demands for stopping production and stop working. Business can do this easier than agriculture, and labor can do it easier than either."

We fall to share Mr. La Guardia's feeling that the decontrol of meat was the crisis that plunged the country toward catastrophe. It is a fairly familiar story, then it was broken in dozens of places. Government contentions that wages could be raised freely while prices stayed fixed had to be revised in the face of reality. The end of price control over meat was simply a matter of time.

Mr. La Guardia didn't say when, if ever, he thought controls should have been lifted. We may assume that he did favor decontrol at a time when supply and demand were in balance at OPA prices. But it must have been obvious to him that such an ideal circumstance wasn't going to come about.

Put the blame where you will—on a group of willful congressmen, on profit-hungry packers and stock raisers, on the difficulty of effecting price control without rationing OPA meat ceilings were, in practice, a fiction. Yet Mr. La Guardia would have had Truman personally in the line of all its attendant dangers and inconveniences.

What has happened now in the meat industry is a return to competitive capitalism instead of what amounted to monopoly capitalism, with a reluctant industry joined in a government sponsored cartel.

It is this competitive capitalism that Mr. La Guardia calls "Free enterprise at its worst." Remembering that he provided ample supplies at reasonable prices before we cannot feel, with Mr. La Guardia, that all is lost. There will be no more meat rationing. The shelves are filled and unprecedented demand is past its peak. But it seems as sensible to suppose that competitive markets will bring about a downward when a bountiful supply is flowing normally as it does to announce that the profiteers have inherited the country and intend to bleed it white.

The control of business is simply being returned to business. To see in this the shadow of doom, indicates a total lack of confidence in the American economic system and in the general integrity of the millions who participate in its operation.

100,000 Sion Communists Encircled

By TOM MASTERSON

Peiping, Nov. 1.—Chinese government forces, increasing the tempo and range of their civil war, rushed vanguards to within 33 miles of Dairen today, encircled 100,000 Sion Communists, and engaged their countrymen in half a dozen other sectors.

The pro-government Jih Pao said vanguards of the Kuomintang, only 33 miles north of Dairen on the border between Manchuria and Kwangtung peninsula. Their objective was to cut off the Communist Peninsula Communists from the Manchurian mainland. The Nationalists had driven south down the Mukden-Dairen railway.

Government sources previously said the Jih Pao's troops, fresh from capturing Antung, would not menace Dairen itself, but would establish a 30 mile safety zone around that Russian-occupied port.

There were these other developments: Nationalists striking at Chetoo and the Shantung Peninsula to cut off the Reds' Yellow Sea route to Manchuria approached the suburbs of Yehshien, one of the four largest ports on the northern coast, and engaged Chinese Red forces in two other sectors.

The Air Force, using American planes and bombs, was attempting to halt Communist reinforcements, slipping to Shantung peninsula from Manchuria in June. Government troops engaged in an hour's clash near the famous Marco Polo bridge, five miles west of Peiping.

Strong national forces opened offensive against Communist masses in the Xuhshien sector on the Chahar-Shansi province border. A majority of the Red's Yuhli drivers on the Red's mountain foot-hills.

Fighting was reported west of Huailai and Chuhu on the Peiping-Suixun railroad. The government's 53rd army moved into the Peiping-Hankow rail sector and the revitalized national counter-attacks against Communist Kucheng, 21 miles north of Peiping, and Tsaochi, only seven miles north of Peiping.

UN Determined to Halt Atom Armament Race

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A determined effort for head-off an atomic armament race and slash military establishments the world over appeared to be in the making today as United Nations delegates introduced the use of a no-war-or-no-production committee discussion of the issues.

The temporary end of the formal assembly sessions—now in recess for at least a week—has opened the way for the United States competing for leadership in the disarmament undertaking.

American officials described the United States proposals for international inspection system as a revolutionary idea that, if adopted, would result not only in a constant watch over atomic resources of all nations but also put an end to secret weapons of all kinds.

While the Soviet Union, which took the initiative in demanding an arms race, has consistently opposed inspection proposals as applied to atomic energy alone, there was some hope evident among the diplomats gathered here that they would be worked out which would be acceptable to both America and Russia and result in concrete proposals for bringing all types of armaments under strict control.

As the arms cut program, Franco Spain, the veto question and more than 50 other issues moved into a new phase of assembly work, passing from general debate to consideration by committees, there were these other developments at hand or in prospect.

1. The United States delegation expected to receive soon instructions from Washington on the American government's policies for putting a vetoed atomic energy bill, captured from Japan under U. N. trusteeship.

The War and Navy Departments had favored keeping some strategic islands, such as Okinawa, under the American flag. The State Department had wanted to subject all of them, at least nominally, to the United Nations. A decision by the Security Council on the agreement, among secretaries Byrnes, Patterson and Forrestal. There were apparently reliable reports that this decision has now been made.

2. The British delegation was awaiting the arrival of foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, enroute here by ship for the opening of the conference opening Monday, to determine its exact policy on a variety of problems. Chief among these is the British attitude toward the internationalizing traffic in arms and the American proposal for having the United Nations get reports on strength and coalition of all troops stationed in foreign countries.

3. Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia have rejected a request by the United Nations that they attend special conference to consider internationalizing traffic in arms and the American proposal for having the United Nations get reports on strength and coalition of all troops stationed in foreign countries.

The assembly wound up its general debate yesterday after hearing speeches from 39 of its 51 delegations. Twelve decided not to join the assembly, which was unanimously to adopt the long list of issues presented by its steering committee and to parcel them out at once for committee action.

Of the six main committees, two scheduled meetings this morning (10 a. m. CST). They were the social-humanitarian-cultural and the administrative-budgetary committees. Two others, the economic and trusteeship groups, arranged afternoon sessions (2 p. m. CST).

The political committee, of which Senator Connally (D-Tex) is American member, will not meet until tomorrow. But at that time it is expected to let down to cases at once the two main issues—budgetary control, France Spain and the veto voting system in the security council.

The formal assembly sessions probably will not be resumed for a week in order to allow the delegates to concentrate on committee work.

The type of action to be taken remained undecided, but it was apparent from the general debate in the United Nations assembly that the new international organization can no longer ignore the issue.

Andrei V. Vishinsky, Soviet foreign minister, expressed the sentiments of many delegations when he declared that "it is now time for action, not words" on the "accursed Spanish question."

The way for peace Monday when the U. N. Security Council meets to take up the Franco case again. At that time the committee will decide whether to drop the Spanish issue from its agenda in order to permit the assembly discussion and action.

Says He Embezzled $750,000 Not a Mere $600,000

By RICHARD C. GLASS

Miami, Fla., Nov. 1.—(UP)—W. Arthur Nickel, 46, a smiling $600-a-week cashier arrested in the lobby of a swanky Miami Beach hotel and accused of embezzling $750,000 from a New York firm, said today the correct figure was $750,000.

Nickel was arrested last night a few hours after New York police broadcast an alarm for him. Detectives Ernest Harrison and Clarence Huddleston took him into custody as he emerged from the elevator of the Colony Hotel where he had been staying since Wednesday under the name of Philip Haas of Baltimore.

When the detectives told him he was wanted for embezzling $600,000 from the Mergenthaler Linotype Co., New York, Nickel replied, "I was wrong. It was $750,000."

He said he would not fight extradition but refused to comment on an attorney in New York City, further charged the charges saying he had $700 cash on him when he was arrested.

Nickel had been sought since Monday when he disappeared from his home at Freeport, Long Island, a few hours before police arrived to arrest him.

The honorable John L. McClellan, senator from Arkansas, was introduced at the Hope Rotary club today at noon by Mayor Albert Graves. Mr. McClellan delivered to the club and to the Rotary a speech that was charged with the spirit of liberty and a challenge to every citizen to protect the principles of free enterprise and free economy against the threat of communism and other ideologies.

Mr. McClellan recognized the material progress made in Arkansas and predicted that if our country's leaders could fulfill the heavy responsibilities now placed upon them, that we would have a period of genuine prosperity for many years to come.

"During the war," said Mr. McClellan, "our job was to compare the two sides of the Atlantic. We were all behind the common effort to win the war. I believe that now the task facing our government leaders is the principal in the history of Congress."

Mr. McClellan reviewed his stand on the many bills and measures that have been introduced in Congress. Many of these are instruments of the individuals who would take advantage of this era of reconversion and its many complex responsibilities to introduce and have become law measures that would tend to take away from the individual citizen those liberties upon which this country was founded, he said.

"In this respect," said Mr. McClellan, "I am 100% behind our foreign policy. We should have taken such a stand much sooner." He went on to say that any type of communism or socialism in the individual citizen was guaranteed security meant that he sacrificed his individual liberties.

Mr. McClellan said he understood part of his great responsibility and his many problems. I wish I could go along with the President on his measures, but when the administration tends toward a change in our free economy type of government I have and will continue to take exception to the administration. We did not fight the war to make communism easy. Our lasting peace can be realized only by the preservation of the liberties and liberties of the individual citizen.

Guests at the meeting today were: Lloyd Spencer, John P. Vessey, Royce Weisenberger, James Pilkinton, George Peck, Dr. Emmet Thompson, Brents McPherson, Jack Brown, Rev. Paul Holdridge, Rev. John L. Kelly, Rev. Charles Harrell, Judge Kendall Lemley, Clifford Franks, Frank Turner, Martin Pool and Walter Verbeulen. Mr. Jack Ambrose and Cecil Williams were introduced as new members.

The formal assembly sessions probably will not be resumed for a week in order to allow the delegates to concentrate on committee work.

Where Republicans Concentrate Attack on Dems

In this year's elections, the GOP is making an all-out attack on the Democrats' hold on Congress, but are concentrating their drive on congressional districts where the Democrats won by only a slim margin in 1944. Four states, California, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Connecticut, hold enough "slim-margin" seats to give the GOP control of the House, if Republicans hold their own elsewhere.

Republicans Trying to Get Big City Vote

By LYLE C. WILSON

New York, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Republicans must break the Democratic hold on big city voters to make good on their promise to win control of the House of Representatives next Tuesday.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt led the Democrats to his final election triumph two years ago, the Republicans lost the big cities by a ratio of about 10 to 1. There are 91 cities with populations of 100,000 or more according to the latest census. In 1944 the Democrats carried 83 of them and the Republicans only eight.

Every big city in New England returned a Democratic majority. There are 12 of them. Of the 20 big cities in the Middle Atlantic area, only Yonkers, N. Y., returned a Republican majority. The East North Central score was Democratic. Only Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati, O., Grand Rapids, Mich., Indianapolis, Ind., and Fort Wayne, Ind. Port Wayne was the most Republican city in the country in 1944, casting 56.9 per cent of its ballots for the G.O.P.

All but Wichita, Kans., of the 10 big West North Central cities were Democratic two years ago. Only Tulsa, Okla., voted Republican among the 20 in the South. Salt Lake City, Utah, and Denver, Colo., were the cities of 100,000 or more in the mountain states. Both were Democratic.

Mr. Roosevelt swept all of the big ones on the Pacific coast. Only Los Angeles, Calif., voted Republican in the 1944 presidential election was: Roosevelt 60.7 per cent; Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, 39.3 per cent. The figures show that big city voters were consistently loyal to the late president. He had 61.9 per cent of their vote in 1932; 69.5 per cent in 1936, and 69.6 in 1940.

Houdini Ghost Again Fails to Appear

By JAMES MARLOW

Detroit, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Twelve magicians admitted today that the spirit of Harry Houdini had stood them up.

The 13th wasn't so sure. The sleight-of-hand men staged a séance last night to urge the spirit of Houdini to return to this mortal plane, seen or unseen, and manifest to us your presence."

It was Halloween and the 20th anniversary of Houdini's death here in Detroit.

In a dim hotel room, lighted only by two candles, the "13 humble followers of the art of magic" sat in a solemn circle around a carved chair where Houdini was to sit if he appeared. On the chair were a book he had written, his picture and a pair of handcuffs he used in his escape tricks.

Houdini was to manifest himself by moving any of the objects or unlocking the handcuffs.

He didn't.

Once during the five-minute period of silence, Karrell Fox, Detroit magic store proprietor who conceived the séance, started violently and stared at the chair.

"Did anybody else see the cover of that book wiggle?" Nobody. Karrell Fox, Detroit magic store proprietor who conceived the séance, started violently and stared at the chair.

OPA Closes Local Price Control Boards

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 1.—(UP)—On Nov. 4 OPA closes its 1,642 local price control boards. But this does not mean the end of OPA now.

There'll still be some price ceilings. To control them, OPA will keep 61 district offices running. And rent ceilings stand, unchanged OPA will keep 650 area rent control offices running to sit on rents.

But from now on keeping the lid on retail prices—the prices which the consumer pays—is a lot tougher.

By this action—scrapping 1,642 local price boards and dumping the whole load of retail price control on 61 district offices—OPA is greatly weakened.

For that reason chiselers will have a better chance to gyp you. Watch out.

Here's the score: 1. The items which remain under control—like refrigerators and washing machines—are listed below.

2. After Nov. 4—your thinking ceilings are being violated, you'll have to complain to your nearest OPA district office.

3. You'll have to apply to that district office for any information you want on OPA prices.

4. If you have a complaint—or want information—about rents, ask your nearest area rent control office.

5. If you lose your sugar ration coupon, tell it to your nearest OPA district office.

OPA's decision to wipe out the local boards was pretty sudden, it was part of the job of finally ending the war on price fixing.

OPA said that once the ceilings were taken off meat and other foods, its local boards became unnecessary because the worst head-aches were over.

Here are some of the items which the public will find still under price ceilings. If you have doubts about the prices on these, get in touch with your nearest OPA district office.

Political Writers Say Republicans Will Gain Control

By JAMES MARLOW

New York, Oct. 31.—(UP)—A Newsweek magazine poll of 50 Washington correspondents, the result of which was disclosed today, brought a prediction from a majority of the political writers that the Republican party would gain control of the House in the Nov. 5 congressional elections.

The writers forecast a tossup with the Democratic party in the Senate, predicting each party would have 48 Senate seats.

The poll is published by the magazine showed the majority of writers predicted Republican strength in the House would be 228 compared with 208 for the Democrats. Control of the House requires 218 seats.

Legislature Due to Get Liquor Bill

By JAMES MARLOW

Little Rock, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Gov. Ben Laney predicted today that legislation to put the state into the wholesale and retail liquor business will be introduced in the 1947 general assembly.

The governor said he would not oppose the measure outright, but that his final judgment would be passed after the legislature has passed a state monopoly bill on the liquor matter. Laney did say, however, that neither he nor his administration intend to introduce such legislation.

"I expect some such proposal to make its way into the legislature," Laney told the United Press. "But I'm just guessing. No one has told me of any such plans, and I'm not working on anything of the sort."

"My final judgment would be governed by information and the purpose of the whole matter," he said.

Rumors that Arkansas would attempt to take over the state's $300,000,000 a year liquor business, which has been controlled by private interests since the first primary election last summer and have continued to circulate since then.

Proponents of the idea point out that the liquor business, which has been controlled by private interests since the first primary election last summer and have continued to circulate since then.

The tax take in Arkansas on liquor, beer and wines for the first ten months of this year, ending yesterday, amounted to $4,542,125. The tax take in Arkansas on liquor, beer and wines for the first ten months of this year, ending yesterday, amounted to $4,542,125.

The same proponents contend that this figure is only about one-third of the year's total. They could make it if it should take over the business of liquor wholesalers and retailers.

Any proposal toward state-owned stores will be fought vigorously by both the liquor dealers themselves and the dry interests. State Revenue Commissioner O. A. Clegg is opposed to such a proposal. He said that in making trips to tax meetings this summer he had studied the monopoly system and found the administrative costs and red tape as major barriers to the program.

While not expressing too much enthusiasm for state-owned liquor stores, the governor believes some changes are needed in the present liquor laws and plans to have a study made before the opening of the legislature.

"I am not entirely satisfied with the liquor law under which we are now operating," Laney said. "I would like to see a new law which is easily administered and which would be effective."

He was referring primarily to the difficulties of enforcing the present law. The governor did not mention additional taxation which might be substituted for state ownership. This was the course followed two years ago when a 38-cent a gallon tax on liquor was added to the $1.50 tax then in effect.

One state official pointed out yesterday that Arkansas' tax on liquor is still far below the federal tax.

100 Additional Items Freed of Price Control

By HELENE MONBERG

Washington, Nov. 1.—(UP)—OPA today removed price controls on nearly 100 items, including some dairy machinery and machine tools, matches and paper diapers.

Continuing piecemeal release of its master decontrol order, OPA said it was discarding controls on these items because they are not important to the war effort or living costs or because they are in good supply.

The OPA now has passed the halfway mark in decontrolling the nation's economy. In its peak of wartime controls, 80 per cent of the nation's economy was under price ceilings.

A previous announcement revealed that controls had been removed on various kitchen appliances, such as the nation's clothing purchases. These included men's and women's suits, dresses, coats, hats, shoes and trunks, some fabric gloves, handbags, belts and suspenders.

The newest list of nearly 100 items includes a long list of dairy machinery items, such as churns, milking machines, cream and milk separators, ice refrigerator milk coolers, agricultural hand-operated sprayers and dusters.

Wooden and paper matches were decontrolled because the match supply is equal to demand.

Other machinery items decontrolled were gasoline and diesel engines, certain sizes of pumps, a number of incandescent lighting fixtures for industrial and commercial use.

Among metal products decontrolled are fluid milk shipping containers, wire enforcing labels, school and passenger bus bodies and parts.

Lumber items decontrolled include redwood cigar box lumber, swan circular saw blades, wire shipping drums and walnut lumber.

Controls also were removed on a number of chemical products including fused quartz and fused silica.

Machine tools decontrolled include connecting rod aligners, rod machines, file holders, card dogs, hand operated dowsel and cleaners, level glasses, round under plates, saw accessories such as steel stock, saw blades, block are guides and clamps, machine stops, and metal straight edges.

Other items included in today's action are carbon products for electrical uses, nickel alloys, special alloys of nickel, chromium, iron, manganese and copper used principally in electrical appliances, plastic battery containers, black pipe guns, power, industrial, marine, and forged steel boilers; a number of construction machinery items, including highway construction equipment and crack and joint filling machinery used in road construction, air gauges.

A number of glass products for industrial use, glassware used in industry at airports and for marine lighting; flood lighting glassware, lenses, searchlight glassware, and glassware used in glassware, printers rollers, crinkled paper covers and liners, egg case fillers, paper and paperboard used in the manufacture of every day necessities, and glassware, and bones of all types used in making bone meal and bone ash.

Other decontrolled items were household cleaning products, (but not soap or soap products), alloy steels, silver, iron ore shipped after Jan. 1, 1947, reapplying plastic, and other articles, and sizes of recapped used tires.

Hope Journeys to Hot Springs for Annual Tilt

The Hope Bobcats left this morning for Hot Springs where they meet the Trojans tonight in a contest for the annual tilt. The contest will be the last of the season for the team. The team is in good shape for the tilt, as it has won all its games since the start of the season. The team is expected to win the tilt, as it has won all its games since the start of the season.

A win tonight would give the Bobcats their fourth consecutive victory against two losses while Hot Springs has yet to break into the win column. The Trojans hold a 1-0 record, while the Bobcats are 2-0.

Coaches Duffy and Tollett have been working the team hard all week in an effort to give off a let-down that could mean costly losses in Hot Springs. The team has been working hard all week in an effort to give off a let-down that could mean costly losses in Hot Springs.

While Hope gains most ground by running the Trojans are aerial-minded. The team has been working hard all week in an effort to give off a let-down that could mean costly losses in Hot Springs.

Airline Strike Settlement Looks Brighter

By United Press

Prospects for settlement of the airline strike appear brighter today, with John J. Lewis, general president of the CIO, and the airlines reaching a tentative agreement.

In a third major labor dispute, the striking CIO United Automobile Workers union at West Allis, Wis., sought desperately to stem a back-to-work movement which threatened to bring the 188-day strike against the CIO.

Other labor developments: 1. A strike at the sprawling CIO plant in Detroit, Mich., which was expected to last for several days, ended today.

2. A strike of employees at a leading hotel in the nation's capital, which was expected to last for several days, ended today.

3. Both striking unions and employers made peace overtures in the month-old west coast shipping dispute, but there was no concrete sign of settlement.

4. In the air line walkout, Chairman Frank Douglas of the national mediation board said he was confident of an early settlement.

5. The Western Union strike, which has been in progress since last week, ended today.

6. The American Federation of Labor (AFL) association of air line pilots submitted their wage demands to the airlines today.

7. The National Education Association (NEA) submitted their wage demands to the federal government today.

Fair Enough

By JACK O'BRIEN
By Westbrook Pegler
By King Features Syndicate

New York, Oct. 31 - The New York Times presents a "fair enough" to all troops in the Philippines, signed by three generals, Christian, Smith, and Evans, and Carroll, in commendation to the western Pacific, and Christian, and Carroll, of the Air Force, which is a piece of self-serving political propaganda, likely to impair further upon the discipline and reputation of these American soldiers and their relations with the Filipinos.

A Times reporter had written that the Filipinos thought of the American troops as "brave, ill-humored, slovenly and contemptuous children" and supported this opinion, attributed to the resident Philippine, which is a piece of self-serving political propaganda, likely to impair further upon the discipline and reputation of these American soldiers and their relations with the Filipinos.

Happy, the other side of the story, while not in any way the largest, carries a few bright success stories of its own. Some of these are back to civilian life, which is a piece of self-serving political propaganda, likely to impair further upon the discipline and reputation of these American soldiers and their relations with the Filipinos.

Blondie

Blondie is a comic strip by Charles M. Schulz. It features a young man named Blondie who is always getting into trouble. In this strip, he is trying to fix a car that won't start. He is frustrated and is talking to himself. He says, "I H-I-D THEM BEHIND THE NAVY COG." He is trying to figure out what is wrong with the car. He is looking at the engine and is trying to find the problem. He is very determined to get the car started. He is a young man who is always getting into trouble. ## 42 Coal Mines Close Despite

Peace Overrules

By United Press

Scattered walkouts closed 42 of the nation's coal mines today, while the west coast shipping strike continued despite a government peace overture.

Meanwhile, the Ford Motor Co. offered to submit to arbitration its dispute with the CIO United Automobile Workers which threatens to paralyze the huge River Rouge,

In a fourth major labor dispute, the government sought settlement of the 186-day strike against Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co., whose farm equipment plant at West Allis, Wis., was the scene of violent clashes on the picket lines this week.

In the soft coal dispute, negotiations between John L. Lewis and the Federal Coal Administration were in recess. There still was no official confirmation that the government had agreed to reopen the

However, the private owners of the mines said the government had entered into an agreement, leaving the union free to "humiliate the government with impunity." Lewis is seeking shorter hours and a compensating wage increase for the soft coal miners.

Meanwhile, 5,700 miners at 42 mines in Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia quit work because of uncertainty over the status of their contract with the government.

however, believed they would return to work Monday. The SFA reported that coal production dropped again last week.

On the west coast, ship owners refused, for the time being at least to put into effect wage and working conditions which settled the maritime strike on the East and Gulf coasts.

The U. S. Maritime Commission had authorized the West coast ship owners who operate government owned vessels to place into effect

Big forces for the assistance of the French time has been. The Gulf settlements. Such a move would affect more than half the ships on the west coast. Ship owners, however, said that the commission had "authorized" but not "ordered" the move.

At Detroit, the Ford Motor Co. offered to submit to an impartial umpire the dispute over its disciplinary action against leaders of a wildcat strike in the open hearth steel furnaces. The walkout was called to protest alleged health hazards. The company denied the

At Milwaukee, officials of the All-Chalmers Mfg. Co. and the United Automobile Workers studied a government proposal for a system of negotiations. Company officials, however, preferred to negotiate in Chicago instead of Washington as proposed by Secretary Labor Lewis Schweikbach.

Meanwhile, the union scheduled a meeting for Sunday to discuss a possible work holiday by UAW members convinced by NLRB have annexed themselves to the high school districts of their choice and more than 100 annexation petitions have been made since the Arkansas Education Association opened its campaign for passage of Initiative Act No. 1 in the general election Nov. 5.

Many Districts Annex to High Schools

Considerable reorganization has been completed by four counties, Clark, Fulton, Union and White, and they have greatly reduced the number of their school districts.

Act No. 1 would combine with each county all districts with district to be known as the Central Rural School District and to be administered by a five-man board. Its effect within the state would be to reduce from 2179 to about 100 the number of districts, and, AEA declares, every child in the state would have opportunity to attend an accredited high school.

"The comparatively recent desegregation movement indicates the people realize the time has come to give all Arkansas children a chance for a high school education."

Among those supporting passage of the act is G. C. Floyd, counsel in school law and finance to the state Department of Education, who has handled the equalization fund and the revolving loan fund to the state department for 25 years.

The school tax dollar shrinks perceptibly so as to purchase a minimum amount of services for the children. The maintenance and operation of small high schools and vocational schools is a problem.

The highest per pupil cost of our public schools is found in small high schools and the elementary school that operates for children.

The passage of this act in many instances strengthens the elementary program. Too often needs of the elementary child are neglected in order that the high school may be maintained. Our public school
